

The Blue Morpho butterfly can be seen in Moraro and the surrounding forests. Help us to preserve the habitat of this attractive blue butterfly. Visit www.indigenous-rainforest-keepers.com to see what we do.

The Blue Morpho Butterfly (Morpho peleides) is stunning and likes the cool undercover of the forest.

These beautiful butterflies are threatened because of loss of natural habitat.

In Moraro, they feed on fallen, over ripe, forest fruits.

We need to be more aware of how our lifestyle affects the Blue Morpho.

You can use felt tip markers to colour your picture of the Blue Morpho butterfly. Here, the stroke technique was used. Good luck!
