

Jaguars are found in Moraro and the surrounding forests. Help us to preserve the habitat of this awesome cat. Visit www.indigenous-rainforest-keepers.com to see what we do.

The Jaguar (Panthera onca) is the largest cat of the Americas. The colour of the coat ranges from tan to black. On the head and neck the spots are more solid black, but become more rosette-like on the main body.

Jaguars are bold but illusive. They seldom interfere with people. Now, because of over exploitation of their habitat, their lives are threatened.

We need to be more aware of how our lifestyle affects the jaguar.

You can use felt tip markers to colour your picture of the Jaguar. Here, the stroke technique was used. Good luck!
